A West Virginia man was seriously injured after his motorcycle collided with a semitrailer shortly after 7:30 p.m. Friday on U.S. 33.

John Hudnall, 56, of Kanawha, W.V., was driving his 2007 Harley Davidson Sportster west on U.S. 33, east of Wapak Fisher Road in Pusheta Township at 7:37 p.m. when he went left of center due to a possible vehicle defect and was struck by a 2006 Freightliner semitrailer driven east by Eric Mallion, 47, of Lakeland, Fla.

Hudnall was transported to Lima Memorial Hospital with serious incapacitating injuries, said Sgt. Rick Albers with the Wapakoneta Post of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, which handled the collision.

He was wearing a helmet.

A condition report from the hospital was not available.

Albers said because it is believed Hudnall's tire went flat or was losing air which may have contributed to the crash. No citations have been issued.

His motorcycle sustained severe damage.

The semitrailer sustained functional damage.

Alcohol was not suspected as a factor.

to stay silent

A new Supreme Court decision intends to make criminals speak up in order to stay silent.

In a 5-4 split decision, the U.S. Supreme Court expanded its limits on Miranda rights for criminal suspects on Tuesday.

According to Justice Anthony Kennedy's majority opinion, a suspect who chooses to talk to police after being informed he doesn't have to has waived his right to remain silent.

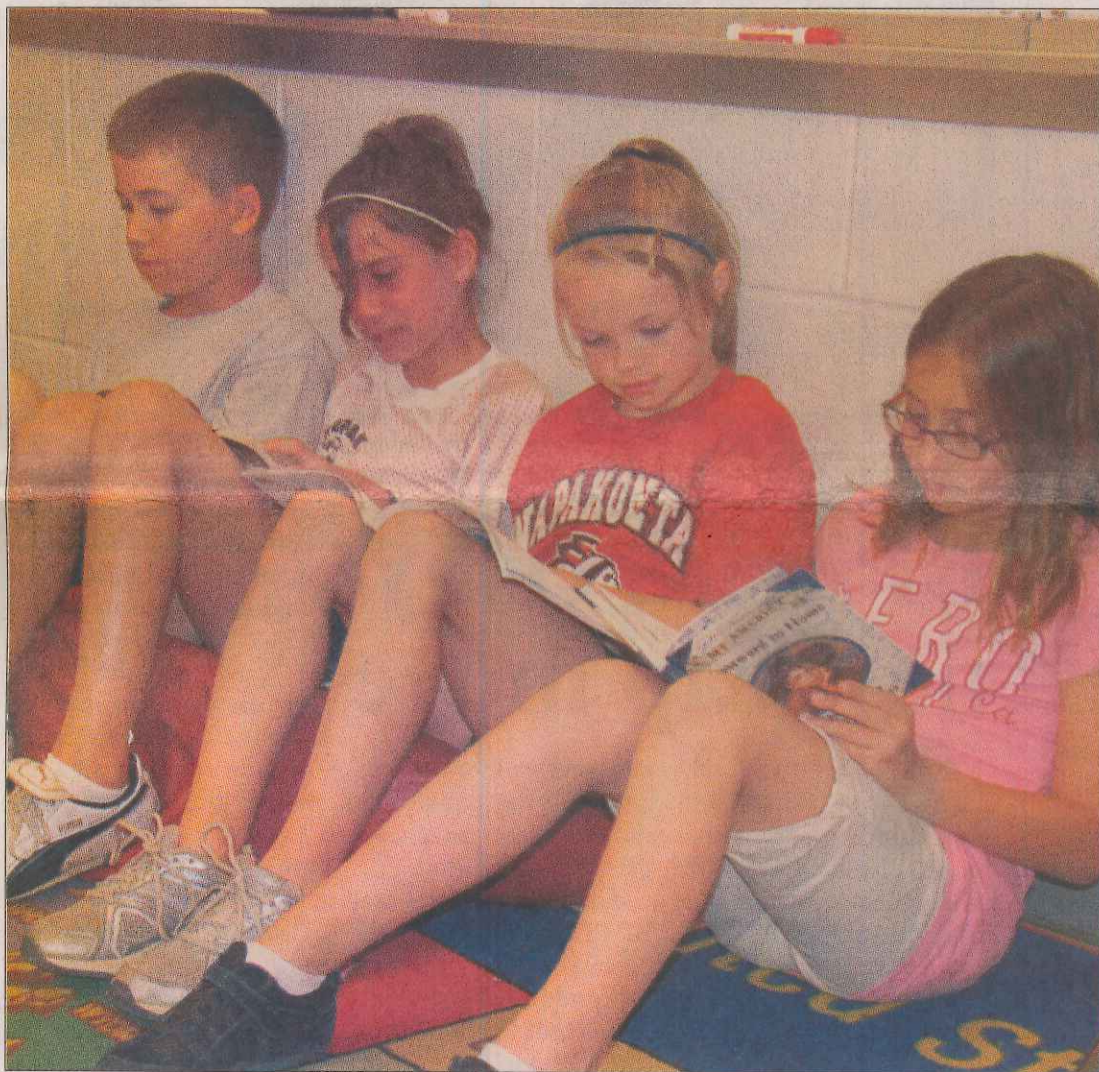

A right to remain silent and a right to a lawyer are at the top of the warnings that police recite to suspects during arrests and interrogations. Tuesday's Supreme Court ruling said that suspects must break their silence and tell police they are going to remain quiet to stop an interrogation, just as they must tell will be appointed for you." The officer must also ensure that the suspect understands his or her rights. Miranda Rights were created in 1966 as a result of the United States Supreme Court case of Miranda v. Arizona. The Miranda warning is intended to protect the suspect's Fifth Amendment right to refuse to answer self-incriminating questions.

Residents discover burglary in process

By KAREN CAMPBELL
Assistant Managing Editor

Residents of Bay Road came home to find a suspicious vehicle in their driveway and items being taken from inside the house.

The residents had been outside doing yard work when they left to get some supplies. They came back a few minutes after noon, to find the suspicious car in their driveway, Auglaize County Sheriff's Office Chief Deputy Mike Eberle said.

"The suspect drove over a flower bed and flowers to get away, when they went inside they realized they had been burglarized," Eberle said.

Years on the stage are doing little to help alleviate this high school senior's nervousness about giving her commencement speech on Saturday.

"Singing doesn't make me nervous anymore," Cassandra Schwartz said, but being the first student to give a speech at

When this Show Choir member is not traveling between performances or games as a member of the varsity soccer team, she's studying — her books and her scripts.

After four years of participating in school musicals,

Schwartz said her most memo-

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A LeBron is leaving northeast Ohio, but it's a cat, not a Cavalier. Whether NBA superstar LeBron James is staying with the Cleveland Cavaliers is still a big question, but the Akron Zoo says it will say goodbye to another LeBron, a jaguar born there last year. By mid-June, the cat is going to the Brevard (pronounced "breh-ward") Zoo in Melbourne, Fla., in hopes he'll produce offspring with a female jaguar named Masaya. A zoo statement on Thursday said the jaguar LeBron got his name in a contest.

for oil and shoring up miles of boom. County officials will use it to block oil from reaching inland waterways but plan to leave beaches unprotected because they are too difficult to protect and easier to clean up.

"It's inevitable that we will see it on the beaches," said Keith Wilkins, deputy chief of neighborhood and community services for Escambia County.

The oil has been spreading in the Gulf since the Deepwater Horizon rig exploded six weeks ago, killing 11 workers and eventually sinking. The rig was being operated for BP, the largest oil and gas producer in the Gulf.

Crude has already been reported along barrier islands in Alabama and Mississippi, and it has polluted some 125 miles of Louisiana coastline.

More federal fishing waters were closed, too, another setback for one of the region's most important industries. More than one-third of federal waters were off-limits for fishing, along with hundreds of square miles of state waters.

icals, games and practices for varsity soccer and reading and studying for an overloaded class schedule. She said it all works out because it has been good preparation for college.

Schwartz, who will attend Mount Union College in Alliance, plans to study biology to prepare herself for medical school. While she's leaning toward family practice, Schwartz is open to the possibilities.

"I don't have to be a doctor," Schwartz said, "I just want to help people. I'll find something in the field."

"My older brother is going into medical school, and he's influenced me a lot," the daughter of Laura and Brent Schwartz said.

Her brother, Cory, graduated from Wapakoneta High School in 2007, also in the top of his class. Schwartz expects her younger brother, Chris, to do the same.

Schwartz said the hardest part of heading across Ohio for college is not being without a car, but being without her tight-knit family. Schwartz has been influenced by both of her brothers.

After hearing how much her younger brother enjoyed the academic team, Schwartz decided to join the team her senior year. It was a welcome break in the schedule.

"It wasn't stressful or intense. It was more about having fun," Schwartz said.

Adam Friemering, the teacher of her favorite class, Advanced Placement biology, led the team.

Schwartz acknowledged that it will be a major adjustment not to see her mother as much.

"We're really close," Schwartz said, but she gains some comfort knowing they'll be visiting Alliance to watch Schwartz play soccer for Mount Union.

On top of looking for full-time employment for the summer, Schwartz will spend part of each day conditioning in anticipation of two-a-day practices that start in August.

"I leave earlier than a lot of others," Schwartz said.

She'll get to campus early to start practice for the division three team. She's not worried about what a college sport will do to her study time.

"I played on varsity here, and it's always been easy for me," Schwartz said. "I know it won't be in college."

Schwartz has been playing soccer since she was 4. She kicked it up to a year-round soccer schedule when she was 12-years-old.

The opportunity to play soccer and the companionship she immediately found with the Mount Union team played a large role in her decision. She spent a night on campus with the soccer team and said she enjoyed how friendly everyone was.

Schwartz said she needs the challenge of keeping active.

"I've always been busy — I like being busy," Schwartz said.

While her summer break has already begun, Schwartz has yet to slow down.

With her younger brother still in school until June 15 and her training for soccer, she's up early.

"I'll have my nights, which is good enough for me," Schwartz said with her usual smile.

cancer treatments. "We need people care about people with cancer to be on the board," Hansbrough said. "They don't have to come in everyday, the only way we can keep going is for people to know we are here and just know we are here and be willing to help."

The board for the Cancer Association of Auglaize County meets four times a year, more or less if needed, and helps approve items that are purchased for those receiving services.

"It's so much easier to run an organization with more people, people who have fresh ideas and are going to work hard," Hansbrough said.

Hansbrough said the board and all the volunteers agree that each person who receives help from the association is worth the hard work.

"Everyone has to have support at some time, no matter what disease or issue they are going through," Hansbrough said.

Anyone interested in donating to the association or becoming a volunteer can call 419-300-3555 or stop by 120 S. Front St., St. Marys. The office is open from 9 a.m. to noon Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.
